

A biological definition of neuronal α -synuclein disease: towards an integrated staging system for research