

The Society of Critical Care Medicine's Datathon

Impact critical care in new ways at Society of Critical Care Medicine, SCCM, Datathon with CDRC's Smith Heavner, PhD, RN! This collaborative event from SCCM Discovery connects critical care clinicians with data scientists to develop pragmatic data-driven models. Help identify potential projects that lead to publication and improve patient care on August 5 and 6, 2023, in New York City.

As a mentor, Smitty will have the opportunity to engage with a diverse group of participants, including clinicians, data scientists, and researchers, as they collaborate on analyzing and interpreting large datasets in critical care. His insights and guidance would greatly contribute to their understanding and application of data-driven research in improving patient outcomes.

For more information on Datathon and registration click here.